"Wine to me is passion. It's family and friends. It's warmth of heart and generosity of spirit. Wine is art.
It's culture. It's the essence of civilization and the art of living."

This is wine country . . .

*The soils and seasons of Northern Michigan, along with the climate and geography, allow the production of some of America's best kept secrets: Michigan Wines.

We are proud to work in conjunction with some of the local wineries to draw more attention to the wines that are produced on the Old Mission and Leelanau Peninsulas.

As a result of the climate, this region's white wines are more common; however, a variety of reds are also produced. Nearly all of the local wines are available for purchase at the wineries' tasting rooms, as well as various outlets around town.

The wineries listed here have far more wines than we are able to showcase. We encourage you to visit any winery in Northern Michigan for tours and tasting, adding some local culture and romance to the normal vacation activities.

Cheers!
